THE OPENING OF THE BEASON AT THE BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS.

False Impression Dissipa Reflections Suggested by a Homely Adage-Old No. 1,

The man who can travel from Buffalo Junction on the Atlantic and Danville railroad up to Buffalo Lithia Springs behind that self-important little locomotive, the "Lithia," and not indulge in a hearty laugh, must be dead to every suggestion of humor. The "Lithia" is the fussiest, busiest, most consequential specimen I ever encountered. It can shrick longer, puff and snort louder, and make more noise generally than the biggest mogul on any of our mountain roads. A ride behind the "Lithia" will also disabuse the mind of any impression that may have lodged there—and the impression is a popular one—that this is a flat country. It is anything else. The journey from the junction to the springs is a regular switchtion to the springs is a regular switch-back performance, but each successive elevation is higher than the preceding one, until one finds himself in the heart of the "Hills of Buffalo," than which there is no more delightful and health-ful climate in all Virginia.

On this point I would lay particular emphasis. It is a common thing to emphasis. It is a common hear persons who contemplate spending the summer here speak of going down to Buffalo, and that to the uninitiated not only carries the idea of a low country, but also a suspicion of malaria. Nothing could be further from the true condi-tions. If there is an unhealthy place for the demon malaria at all seasons that place is Buffalo Lithia Springs. He is not indigenous to the section, and when he is imported the waters here never fail to wage a successful warfare against him. Not only that, but if longevity is a test of all round healthfulness and freedom from diseases the carefully-compiled statistics on that subject published by Major Jeffress several years ago show that this country breaks the record.

CLOTHED IN GALA DRESS. I found old Buffaloun gala attire for the season, which has alreadyy opened. Colonel Goode believes in paint, soap and water, muscle and sand, and whiteand water, muscle and sand, and white-wash, and everything is as neat and as fresh as a new pin. Since my last visit a little over a year ago the cottages across the road have been finished, an-other story added to the office and ball-room building, a new stable for the fine livery erected, and other improve-ments made. As is known to habilues ments made. As is known to habitues the cottage system obtains at Buffalo. Colonel Goode has never departed from it, and, for my part, I hope he never will. It is a system by which one can have as much company as he desires, but when he wishes privacy can com-mand it. This is understood at Buffalo. Every family has, so to speak, its own vine and fig tree, and therein lies one of the chief charms of the place-a charm of peculiar attraction to those suffering from pervous troubles those suffering from Pervous troubles and who desire rest. Indeed, while there is no lack of amusements here, and the young can be as gay as they please, the whole air of the place, with its cottages nestled around a beautiful sloping lawn, its check them. shade-trees, its hazy background of forest outlined against the sky, is one of dreamy restfulness. There may not be as much pretension at Buffalo Lithia Springs as at some other resorts, but certainly there are all the comforts of table, good beds, and good attendance to be found anywhere else, and certainly it is—leaving its remarkable waters en-tirely out of the question—the place for broken-down, overworked business-men, for weary mothers, and for our children whom we would have drink in the beanties of nature. In short, it is a firstclass watering-place without flummerya resort where one meets the best of socompelled to play a continuous game of masks and faces.

THE OLD SPRING. delsohn's Wedding March, beautifully rendered by Miss Chapman. Rev. J. F.

Deans, the pastor, pronounced the words which made the twain one with peculiar impressiveness.

After the ceremony the bridal party and invited guests dined at the home of Captain Charlie Godwin, brother of the hot think what a striking picture would but think what a striking picture would be presented when ere long this lawn in the evenings would be given up to the revels of happy children, while on every cottage portico would be groups of older persons. To my mind there could be no more fruitful subject for a painter's brush, taking the scene as a whole or in bits. And looking down into the old spring No. 1 and then glancing over towards the new or No. 2 a homely but appropriate adage occurred to me. It is this: "A new broom sweeps clean, but an old one carries the dirt." I am not going to institute a comparison between the old No. 1 and No. 2 to the disparagement of the latter. I could not. No. 2 has a record that is one of the most re sion and found two or three indictments for trivial offences. Only a small crowd was in attendance on account of the farmers being so busy. A notice is posted on the court-house door calling together all who favor a Third-party move to attend on Saturday. The notice creates considerable discussion among the people.

Your Sunday personals are popular, and it gives every one the whereabouts of their friends. The court is expected that is one of the most remarkable of any mineral water in the world, and I shall have something to say about that and No. 3 later. When No. 2 was discovered by Colonel Goode after he bought the property it created some excitement, and an account of its marvellous cures was systematically kept, causing No. 1 to be in a measure lost sight of and its reputation of over half a century to be somewhat overshadowed. The fact, however, is that old No. 1 has a place of its own that in the interest of a place of its own that in the interest of humanity should be kept before the public.

In the first place, if ever there was a boon to woman—if ever Nature's labe-ratory propaged a specific for the disratory propered a specific for the dis-eases peculiar to woman—it is the water of spring No. 1. The cases where it is a red when nothing else would are countless, and are testified to by some of the most eminent physicians in the country. Dr. James Shelton, who for country. Dr. James Shelton, who for twenty-seven years was resident physi-cian at the springs, bears unqualified testimony to the efficacy of No. 1 in the diseases referred to and a 1 the decange-ments it c dent thereto. "The distin-guishing quality of No. 1 it," says Dr. Shelton, "its unquest o table power as a nerve-tonic and to the rest restorative. It is also unsurpassed as an eradicator of nerve-tonic and ; 6 erai restorative. It is also unsurpasse: as an eradicator of malarial poison and as a care for atonic dyspepsia and gere all d b lity, and in chronic distributes and gyacecological practice generally." Dr. Halthad Boylani, of the medical faculty o P. ris, who gave the most careful s udy to the effects of the water, declares that "Buffalo water receives No. Lis perhaps, more than any of the water, declares that "Buffalo water spring No. 1 is perhaps more than any other water in the world a specific for female diseases." Dr. W. T. Howard, professor of diseases of women and chil-dren in the University of Maryland, after comparing the water of No. 1 with another celebrated water, says: "In short, were I called upon to state from what water I have seen the greatest and short, were I called upon to state from what water I have seen the greatest and most remarkable amount of good accrue to the largest number of cases in a general way, I should unhesitatingly say the Buffalo Springs in Mecklenburg county, Virginia." The cases of chronic intermittent fever which have obstinately resisted all other remedies, but which were cured by this water after a few weeks' sojourn of the patients at the springs, are counted by the scores.

springs, are counted by the scores.

OPTUM AND LIQUOR HABIT.

But there is still another field in which the water of No. 1 is pre-eminent. I refer to its curative power in cases of victims of the opium and liquor habit—of, more properly, opium and liquor disease. Here is one of the strongest supports of the testimony of medical men that the water possesses some extraordinary victor apart from that ascribed to libia. By toning up the nervous system, reditions incident to long use of intexicants and narcotics, and entirely discipates the thirst for them. Among the physicians who have made a study of the effects of the water of No. 1 in these cases is Dr. George A. Foot, of Warrenton, N. C., who says: "It is my conscientions belief, founded on close observation of the action of this water, that the Buffalo Lithis Byrings would make the grandest ranitarium for inebriates in the world." There are instances of refined ladies, who innocently became the viotims of opium, having had the drug prescribed for other diseases, coming here in what was considered a hopelessly enslaved condition, but who were not only entirely emancipated, but cured of all their other troubles. The above are but specimens of hundreds of testimonials.

ON ITS OWN MERITS,

ON ITS OWN MERITS,

on its own merits.

In what I have said about No. 1 I have barely touched upon the diseases it is a specific in, much less the class of cures it effects when taken in combination with the other waters. I simply want to show for the benefit of the suffering that, considered by itself, the spring would make this one of the most valuable health resorts in the world. Buffalo had that reputation before the other springs were discovered to accentuate its position as a place of health-giving and life-giving water and climate. In its most primitive days it enjoyed crowded seasons. I have differentiated No. 1 from the other springs perhaps in somewhat of a spirit of sentimental justice, and in order to show that it can stand on its own merits and has no reason to take crowded seasons. I have differentiated No. I from the other springs perhaps in somewhat of a spirit of sentimental justice, and in order to show that it can stand on its own merits and has no reason to take a back seat. Looking down into its limpid depths I could not but wish that every one who feels that he is "tumbling all to pieces," no matter from what cause, might have an opportunity to drink of its waters, and regret that a drop of its invigorating and curative liquid be wasted. There are hundreds of the Disparch readers, male and female, who know what I mean by the "tumbling-all-to-pieces" feeling. It may come from lurking malaria, from the effects of the grip, from some occult kidney trouble, from dyspepsia, from overwork, from insomnia, or what not; but whatever the cause I cannot give them better advice than that they try liquid be wasted. There are hundreds of the Disparch readers, male and female, who know what I mean by the "tumbling-all-to-pieces" feeling. It may come from lurking malaria, from the effects of the grip, from some occult kidney trouble, from dyspepaia, from overwork, from insomnia, or what not; but whatever the cause I cannot give them better advice than that they try Buffalo this season. Buffalo this season.

HOW TO GET HERE. However, I have already made this letter longer than I had expected. There is much more to be said respecting Buffalo Lithia Springs as a resort and respecting its waters before the sub-ject shall have been exhausted. It only ject shall have been exhausted. It only remains for the present to tell your readers how to get here. Buffalo Lithia Springs can be reached from the North or Sonth either by the Danville system, getting off at Danville and taking the Atlantic and Danville, or by the Coast Line, getting off at Belfield and taking the same road; and from any other points in the country by the systems connecting with the Danville and the Coast Line. From Buffalo and the Coast Line. From Buffalo Junction, on the Atlantic and Danville, is only a short ride over a standard-gauge road, and through, as already stated, a rolling country. Indeed, du-ring this ride one might well imagine himself in the upper Piedmont section.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL ON LANGSTON. The President Enjoys a Game of Bas

Ball-Blaine Serene. [By telegraph to the D spatch.] Washington, D. C., June 6.—Attorney-General Miller's attention was to-day called to the speech of John M. Langston in Chicago on the evening of June 3d. In the report of that speech in the Chicago Inter-Ocean it is said: "It was charged by the speaker against the Attorney-General that he had 10 instituted a single prosecution against the perpetrators of negro outrages in the South, although the case of a colthe South, although the case of a col-ored railway mail clerk, whol was taken from the mail-car and lynched, had been specially reported to him."

Mr. Miller said: "No such case was ever reported to the Department of Justice, and, as I believe, no such lynching ever occurred. So far as I am able to recall the only attack upon a railway mail-clerk reported to the department since I became Attorney-General was the one made on F. G. Blivens. a young colored man, near the town of Aberdeen, Miss., on the 20th of March, 1890. In that case four young men, thinking it was not allowable for a colored man to run as a railway mail-clerk on the Illinois Central railroad, fired several shots into the mail-car, none of them, however, hitting Mr. Blivens. The United States district promptly instituted an investigation, had the four young men indicted; three of them were convicted on pleas of not guilty mail-clerk reported to the department young men indicted; three of them were convicted on pleas of not guilty and one on a plea of guilty, and two were sentenced to the penitentiary for three years and one to imprisonment for six months and to pay a fine of $500. The one who pleaded guilty was let off easily. If Mr. Langston knows of any other case than this he certainly can and should give the page time and place. The trouble the name, time, and place. The trouble with Mr. Langston, and with others who complain that the Federal Government does not prosecute wrongs inflicted upon colored men is that they fail to realize that, under the construction of the constitutional amendments by the Supreme Court, the wrongs complained of are generally not violations of Federal rights, generally not violations of Federal rights, and consequently prosecutions therefor cannot be sustained in the Federal courts or by the Federal Government."

The President and Secretaries Foster and Rusk attended the Cincinnati-Washington base-ball match this afternoon and enjoyed the game very much. AN ALLEGED RESULT.

The Freissiniez Zeitung states that Herr Stryck, president of the Municipal Council, has seeded from the Catholic Church as a protes, against what he considers an act of unjustifiable intolerance. His action will probably influence the lower house of the Baden Diet, where the Catholics have been gaining for years, which rejected a motion in favor of allowing the return of the expelled Catholic orders, including the Jesuits.

AGAINST OUR SUGAR TRUST.

The German sugar-producers have received overtures from the Austrian union of sugar-producers proposing the establishment of a syndicate for the sale of raw sugar to work against the American sugar trust. The overtures were favorably received. If they are successful the French producers will be invited to co-operate with them.

Mr. Harlem Bridges was asked by his grocer to pay for six pounds of coffee.
"When did I get this coffee?" asked Mr. Bridges, with rage stamped on every lineament of his countenance.
"It was last year you got that coffee."
"Then it is settled long ago, and if it isn't, coffee that won't settle in a year shouldn't be paid for, anyhow."
A motion to consider was promptly laid on the table.

"Yes."
"Say, pa!"
"What is it?"
"What kind of a boat is a blood-vessel?
"It is a life-boat. Now run away to bed.

Short and sweet -your hours of labor when you use Pearline. Without Pearline, you may work hard and do much; with Pearline you will work less and do more. Pearline saves your clothes in the wash, and your temper in the washing. It is the continual rub, rub, rubbing, over a washboard in the old way with soap, that wears your clothes and makes hard Pearline is the new way, and does away with the rubbing. It is as safe as it is sure; be sure to get Pearlins—nothing else, and you will be safe.

It is a mistake to suppose that the supply of good clothing is unlimited. It is also a mistake to suppose that even from good clothing you can always make s satisfactory choice, unless you receive intelligent attention at the hands of an experienced salesman. It is dangerously easy to be imposed upon with a bad article; but fortunately it is just as easy to get the best.

Nothing better than our $10, $12, and $15 Suits have ever been offered for sale for the money. With a doubtful article a guarantee may be needed, but about these Suits there is nothing dubious.
